Drive Up Book Drop Installed on East Side

In mid-March the weather warmed up enough to pour the concrete pad and within the week the new book drop was installed.

24/7, patrons can drop off materials from their car; no need to park.

We are hoping this makes things easier and frees up some parking spaces.

Thank you to all who voted in our book drop poll!

Zinio for Libraries App is New and Improved!

For your iPad, Android, MAC or PC

Easier to use and navigate. The new app is no longer linked to the commercial site suggesting titles for purchase. With the new app you access only FREE titles available from your library.

New patrons create only ONE account to register for Zinio (no need to create dual accounts between both Zinio for Libraries and zinio.com).

Existing users will have to install a new app on their iPads or Android device.

To enjoy the enhancements on the new Zinio for Libraries app, existing users must download the NEW app onto their device (it will not appear as an update to their existing app), and any content you have accessed through your library account will automatically appear on the new app.

iPhone and Kindle Fire HD/HDX users will still utilize the existing dual account protocol until those apps are released later this year.

Programs for Adults

Library Fundraiser for Children's Reading Garden Kicks Off

It has long been a dream to improve the area outside the children's library into a reading garden that we can use for storytimes and programming.

In honor of the 100th anniversary of Kiwanis International, our local Longmont Kiwanis Club is fundraising toward that dream. They are hosting a dinner and silent auction on April 23rd at the Shupe Homestead.

Artist Rendering

If you would like help out, you can make donations directly to the library through the Library's WishList. They will be used, along with the Kiwanis funds, toward the $40,000 project. Our Friends of the Library will also be helping with this.

For more information, contact Judith Anderson by email or by phone at 303-651-8475.

April is National Poetry Month.

Celebrate with us! Our self-checkout stations have added a new language. Directions are now available in Haiku. Do you speak Haiku?

Visit Poem a Day at Poets.org

Poem a Day features original, unpublished poetry by our country's most talented poets on weekdays and classic poems on weekends.

Happy Spring!
